Notable Memories of Our Year

Dearest Alumni of Today and of Tomorrow,

The Annual Staff takes its typewriter in hand to chat with you about our year of 1963-'64. We know that you were startled on the first day to see UP and DOWN stairs and directional signals painted on the walls to aid with the movement of traffic and to help with the location of lockers and rooms. All of us had to learn to look up and to map out the best routes to follow to get from the third floor of the Annex to the third floor of the main building.

There were more "UPS" and "DOWNS" in the over-all happenings of our lives: winning teams in football, cross country, and golf; demerits replacing seventh periods; Homecoming "floating" along on the second Friday of school; the lengthened school day; and the presence of the conduct control officer with power of arrest.

Our main purpose in this note, however, is to let you know about some of the hidden notes of our fine high school which may have escaped your notice. Ours became the largest secondary school in the state with nearly 2500 pupils. These numbers might have become a liability had not our administration been increased by one and our faculty, by twenty. Too, our curriculum was broadened: a second instructor took over some of the Drivers' Training; second year German was offered; a special teacher came to our high school to help some of us to acquire greater skills; and the English Department assisted in a national study.

You may not have known that the faculty started off the year by attending workshops in Guidance, Mathematics, and English; that vocational education was upgraded with the addition of more training and more teachers. The system added an extra nurse, a curriculum co-ordinator, and a fifth guidance counselor.

In the pages of this year's MUSTANG we hope we have given you a complete inside and outside story of our school during the year of the Peace Treaty ratification and of the cut in income taxes.

With best wishes,

YOUR STAFF

This is what it looks like when we start and when we end.
Many traverses come in between.
Things that are bitter, sweet, cold,
and hot.
But the first and last days are of gentle breeze.
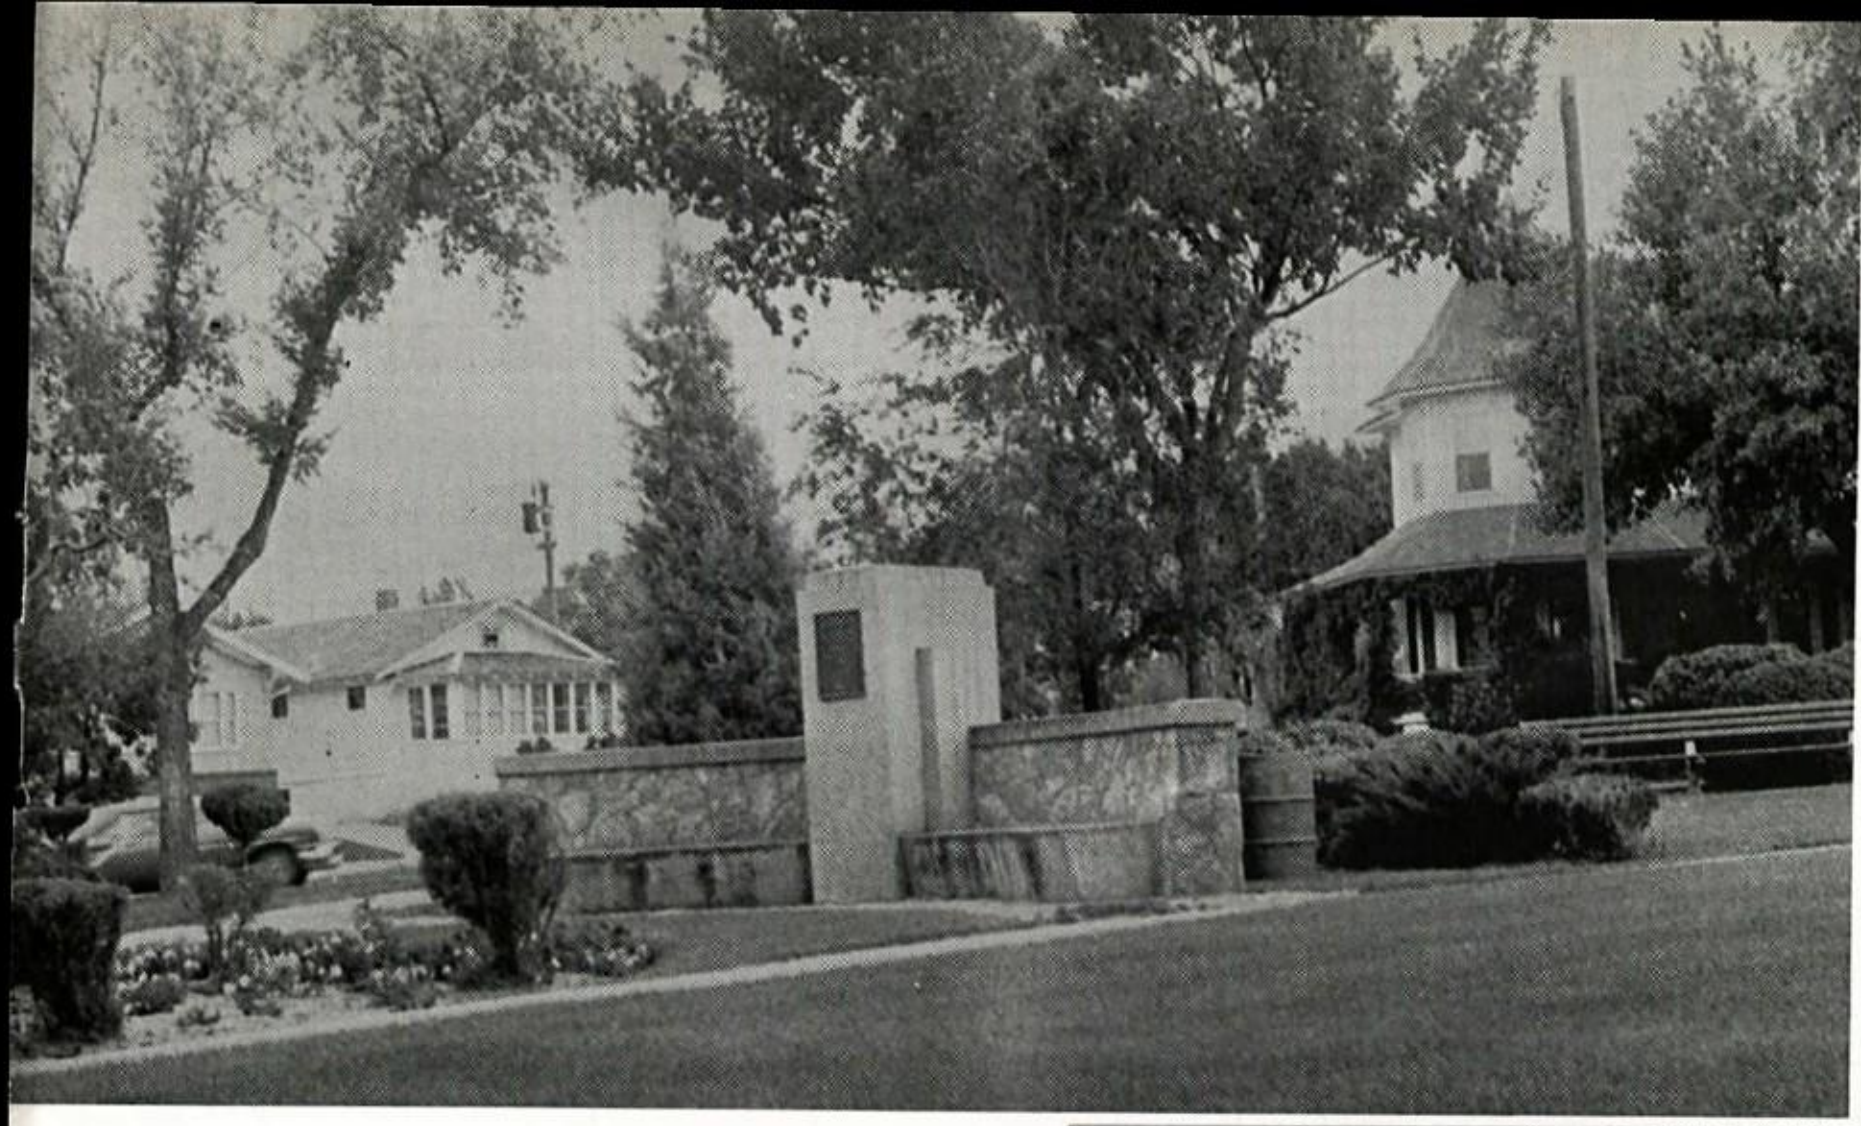
Not fierce wind.

. . . Verses by DINAH HARRELL



Where are our thoughts?
Are they in the book we bought,
Say, CATCHER IN THE RYE?
Or, perhaps, our destiny when we aspire.
We come on winter days, and learn of one who hopes and one who prays.
These days are just a maiden trial;
But to slight and ignore them is gross self-denial.

Hi Gangs of Juniors-to-be,

We're back now from the most wonderful weeks at Girls' and Boys' States! What a blast of an experience. Preparation for the departure was hectic as you can well imagine, considering that we had to cram hard to know how to run our Senates, our Houses, and our Court Sessions.

As you know the primary purpose of these States is to demonstrate the functioning of our political and judicial systems. We fell right into the routine with the help of the men of the Legion and the women of the Legion Auxiliary. We boys were proud of our debates on legalization of gambling, the right to work law, and reapportionment.

Don't get scared; it wasn't all work. Costumes at Girls' State were duseys: barber outfits and creations fashioned from light bulbs, pennies, and pistols. Throughout the week, we boys had recreation hours, playing volleyball and blood-'n-guts soccer. There was also a little game of wipeout, not too well enjoyed by some.

Final elections came on Thursday. We especially want you to know how the Casper Kids fared. Here are a few notes on the results:

Wyoming Representatives to Boys' Nation visit with Senator Simpson—Diemer True and Jim Rhodes (Sheridan).

BOYS' STATE

Wyoming Governor—Dick Phillips
State Auditor—Diemer True

GIRLS' STATE

U. S. Representative—Sherry Martinson
State Treasurer—Helen Pouttu
State Supt.—Dyann VanDeventer
Chief Justice—Ruth Van Dyke

Diemer was chosen by his fellow Staters to go to Boys' Nation in Washington. Dick Phillips was chosen to be an alternate to Boys' Nation. By the girls Sherry Martinson was selected alternate to Girls' Nation.

On Friday we visited Cheyenne and the State Capitol to sit in the seats of the great; to debate on the floors of the House and Senate; to hold court sessions in the judicial chambers. Following work, the girls drank tea with the Governor's lady and the boys visited Missile installations at Warren A. F. Base.

Good luck to Casper's 1964 Representatives,

Dyann & Dick

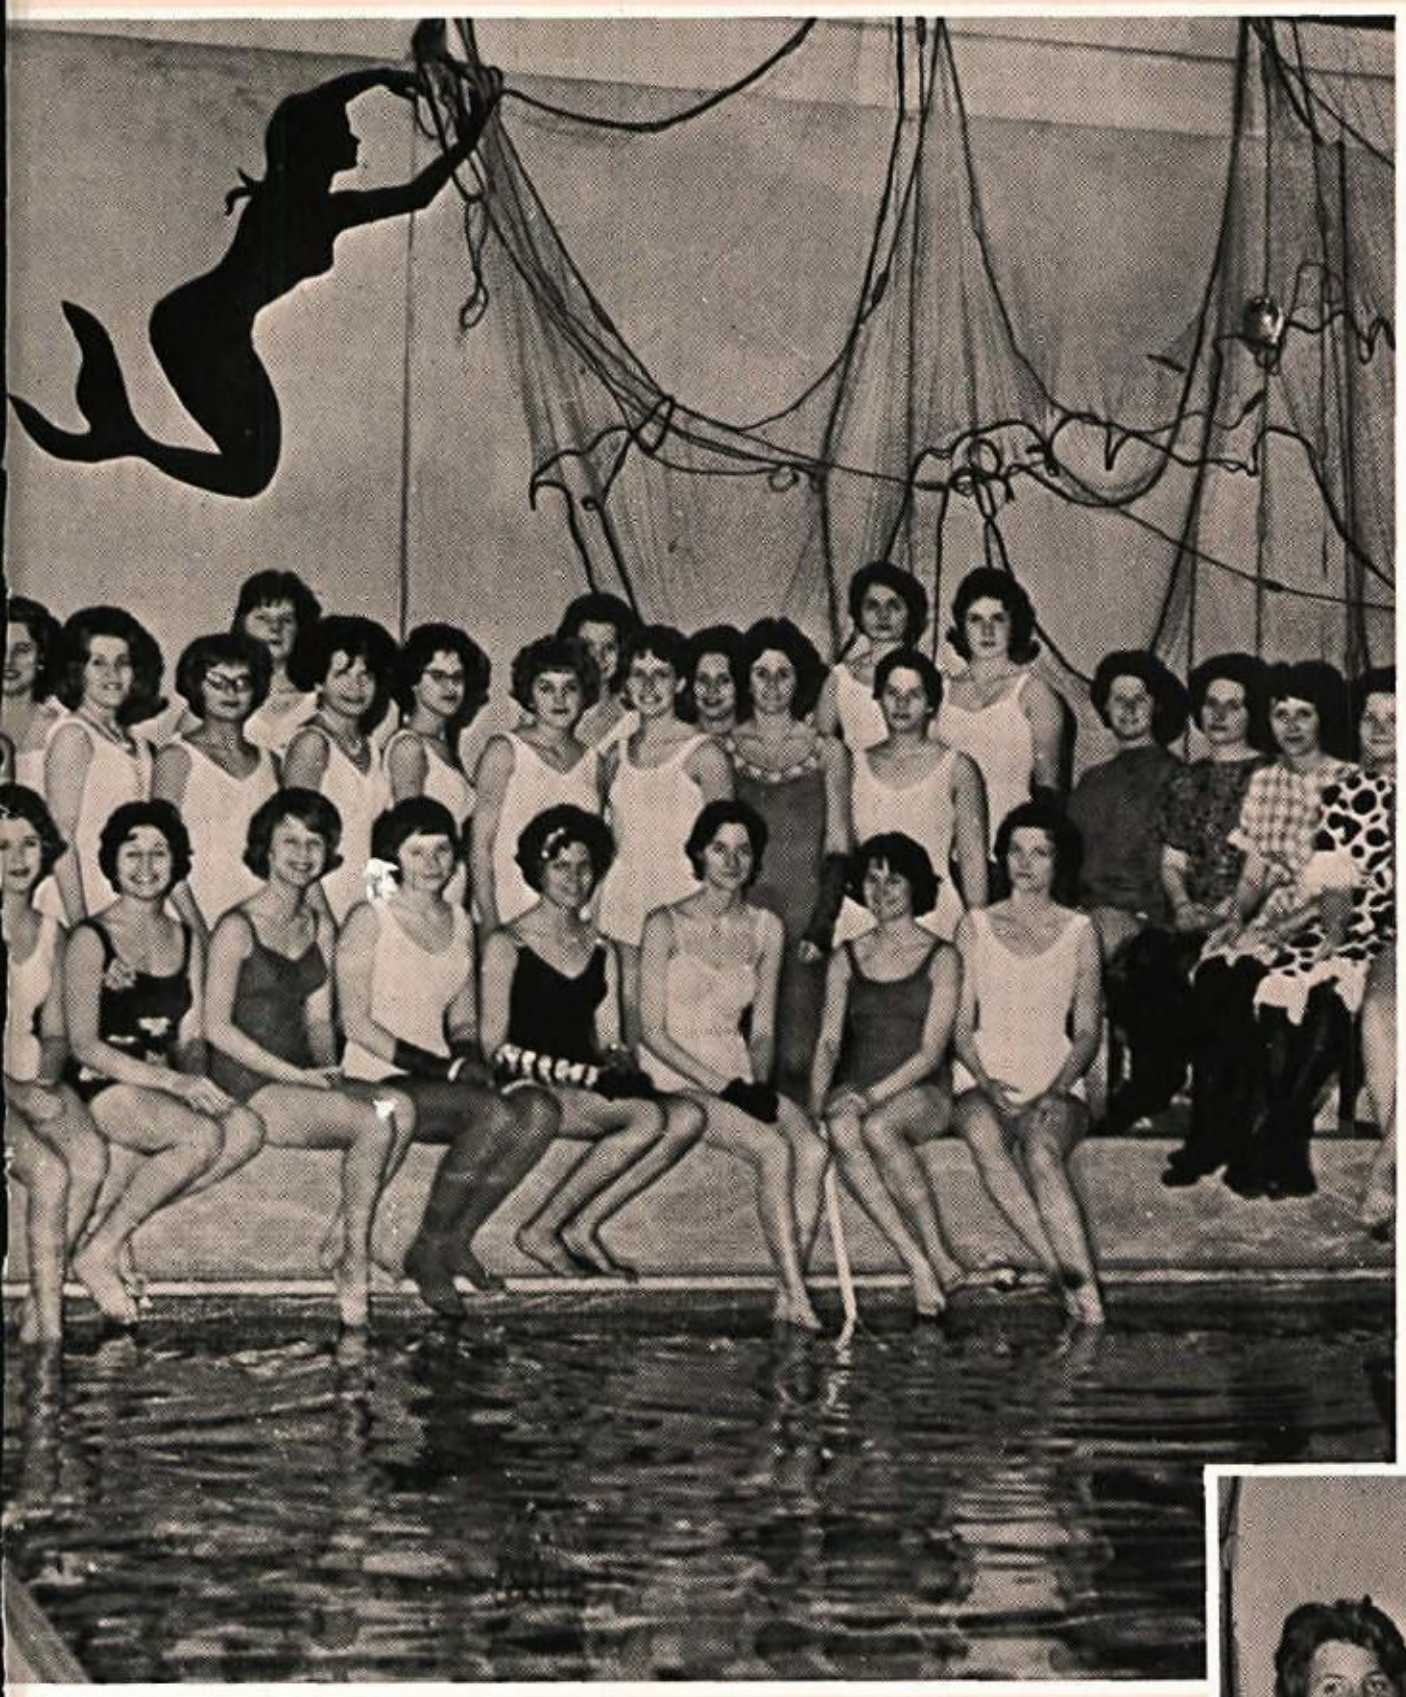
Girls League Members Oriented Sophomores

Apple blossoms, soft breezes, gleaming silver, punch, and crumpets took the sting out of the recitation of rules and regulations as the girls of the League prepared the incoming sophomores of 1963 for the rigors of high school life. A clever skit further sugar-coated the stipulations as to earrings, skirts, and turned out collars.

All in pink and white the lovely punch table blended into the beauty of the blooms.



Girls Annual Water Show

"Reflections in the Water"

The background was colorful, the audience enthusiastic, the girls well trained, the costumes imported: everything made for a splendid show.

Patty Jenkins was the able student director.

The annual spring musical, Wonderful Town, proved to be one of the gayest, smartest shows in many seasons. Its plot line was sunny, spirited, and bursting with contagious good humor. Leonard Bernstein's melodic score delighted the capacity audience who viewed the production. Memorable were the ballads "A Quiet Girl" and "It's Love," and a nostalgic lament called "Ohio." The dance numbers grew naturally out of the story, with "Conga" and the "Ballet of the Village Vortex" highlights of the production.

The Notes

Maurice Griffith, Superintendent

Oil companies moved their headquarters to Casper, new industries brought families into the city, and the maternity news from the hospital continued to head the statistics column in the papers. School Board members tried valiantly to inform the public concerning the need for more classrooms and the necessity of keeping abreast of modern trends in education, but the tax payers on December 10 voted down new bonds and new sources of revenue by a 2 to 1 margin. Cutbacks in budgets, double sessions, and the bussing of more children about the town became the fears for 1964-65.

Meanwhile the Kelly Walsh High School on the eastern edge of the city kept taking height and breadth, and the motto of the Board members became "They also serve who only sit and wait."

SCHOOL PHILOSOPHY—"We believe that education has the function of developing proper attitudes and appreciations as well as the preservation and transmission of our culture. Inherent in this belief is the idea that mental, physical, emotional, and spiritual growth requires serious effort, self-discipline, an abiding faith, and a harmonious fusion of knowledge and behavior. To assist the individual in achieving these educational goals (we all) strive: a. To provide through experiences in democratic living, an understanding and appreciation of our form of government, the obligations of citizenship and a sense of social responsibility. b. To develop an understanding of, and respect for, all people with emphasis on their rights and responsibilities as world citizens. c. To develop ethical character with respect for moral and spiritual values. d. To provide opportunity for increasing mastery of the elements of an education which are needed for intelligent participation in a modern world. e. To provide emphasis on the application of learning rather than on content alone . . ."

Notes on the new in the Science Department showed two entering instructors: Mr. Barber, teaching chemistry and biology; and Mr. Preston, instructing in chemistry. Modernization of courses showed PSSC physics being incorporated into the subject. Enrollment in the tried-and-true basic courses included 24 sections in biology, a subject primarily for sophomores; 11 sections of chemistry for juniors; 3 geology classes for juniors and seniors; and 5 physics groups for seniors.

Social Studies Instruction Blankets the World During the Earth's Development in Every Dynasty and Century

By taking note of the various courses offered in Social Science one realizes the wide coverage of the department: World civilization, Psychology, United States history, World history, Wyoming history, World government, Economics, Social problems, and World geography. For two years—in 1962-63 under Mr. Ward and in 1963-64 under Mr. Radden, Social Science H has been conducted on a seminar play. The lucky people enrolled do independent research; they have free use of the library; and they look forward to advanced courses in Economics when they reach college.

Although most of the instructors in this department demand reference papers, Mr. Brecheisen broke tradition to ask for newspapers giving outstanding events of certain periods covered.

Foreign Language Offerings Increase to Meet the Demands of Modern Communication

As our school population increases, so increases our course offerings. During 1963-64 students could complete four years of Spanish and Latin, three years of French, and two years of German. Additional years of German will be offered in the future, since we now have two first year classes. The instructional staff was increased also; the language laboratory was fully scheduled. The instructors looked forward to the possibility of expanded language offerings for students as interest in languages increases.

For two memorable reasons, members of the English Department—students and instructors alike—will not soon forget November 21 and 22, 1963. On the 21 methods and philosophy of the Dept. were surveyed by Mr. Thomson and Mr. Applebee of the Project Staff, National Study of High School English Programs. Casper's was one of the 110 such departments visited in the United States—the only one in Wyoming. At noon on the 22nd news came with a throbbing beat of the assassination of the President in Dallas. During the remainder of the afternoon, teachers, boys and girls, and visitors went numbly through the routines of the school. Naturally, Casper was proud that it was part of the national survey, but it was sad that international sorrow should have made the 22nd live forever in our memories.

Frances F. Feris, Chairman

During the Thanksgiving holiday Miss Hill attended in San Francisco the convention of the NCTE, where she learned that for the third year in four a student of NCHS—Bill Worrall—had won the award for the outstanding junior English student in the state.

In January Miss Neise Rodrigues of Brazil, member of an international group of teachers, visited our school system. One of our lay readers, Jean Davis, entertained Neise during her visit.

The usual essays: "Putting Christ into Christmas" for the Kiwanis Club; "Challenge to Citizenship" for the Veterans of Foreign Wars; "America—an Opportunity for Friendship" for the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars;" and "Hiring the Handicapped" for the State Dept. of Ed. were written, checked, sifted, and presented.

Course offerings were increased to include General Eng. 12. A survey showed 480 seniors out of a class of 560 enrolled in senior classes: Advanced Composition and Comparative Lit.; Senior Eng. and Modern Lit.; Gen. English 12; Honors 11 and 12; Speech, Journalism; and Dramatics.

Fine Arts Strikes a Note of Beauty and Harmony

Someone around the school remarked that it was a shame that it took the assassination of a President to upgrade music on TV at least for three days. The harmony coming from vocal groups in room 300, and from the band room where met the orchestra and band gave promise that our graduates would seek better music from radio and TV. Progress is the theme of the music of modern times. Newer contemporary lyrics, however, occupy more space in the songs performed in our school groups.

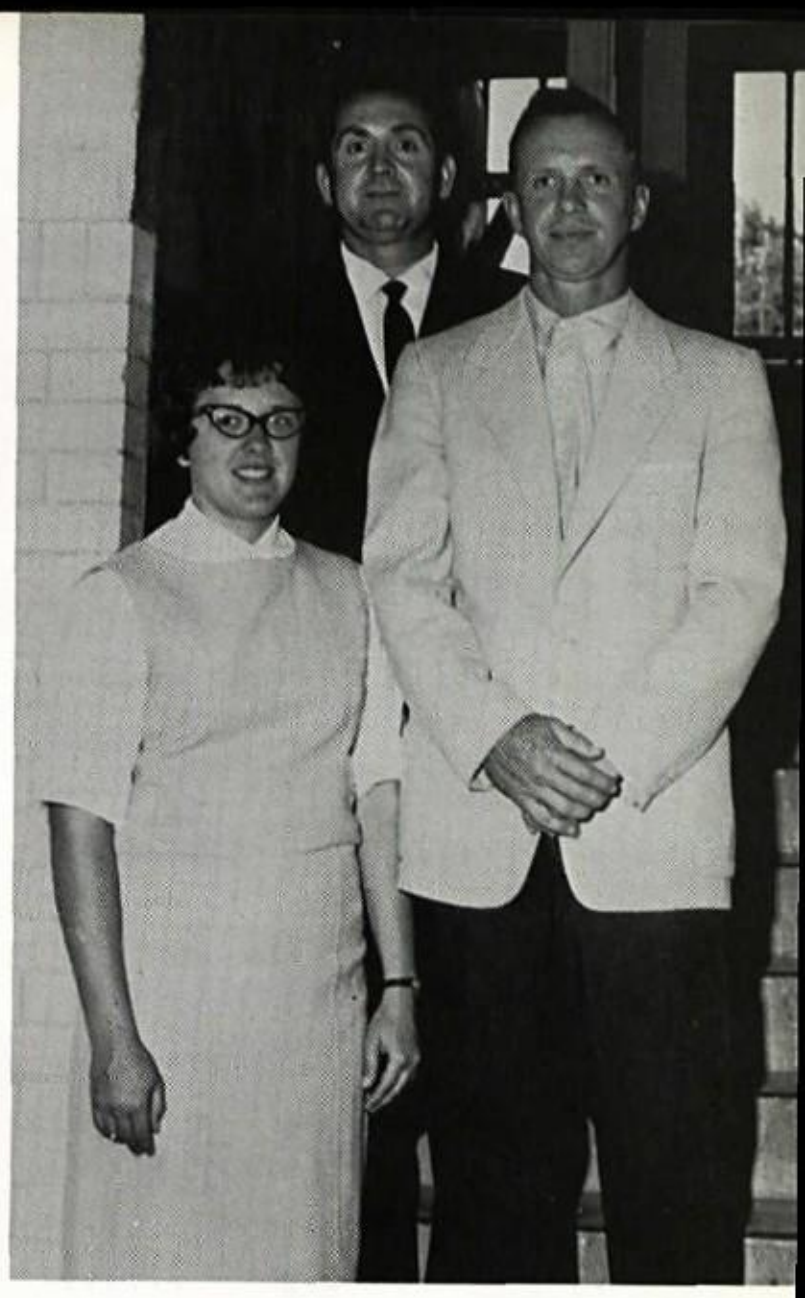
Abstraction is one of the newer phases of modern art. Imagination is a permanent picture of composition and a symbol of advancement. With so much thought being put into their work, art students of Natrona County High School will bring pleasure to themselves and more honors to the school.

Grace Jacobson, Supervisor of vocal music in Casper schools.

Physical Fitness for Boys and Girls

In the spring of 1963, it looked as if ROTC, after fifty years as a part of the schedule of NCHS, might disappear; but the Defense Department in line with President Kennedy's emphasis on physical fitness saved for our boys discipline, courtesy, and the spit and polish of military training.

Physical education for all boys and girls has always been a part of Casper High's philosophy; but to add a little "toughness" to the program, swimming, gymnastics, volleyball, hockey, and tumbling became practical frills.



Judith Meyers, girls' physical education; Earl Ray, lifesaving, swimming, and boys' physical education; Harry Geldien, chairman, physical education, football and gymnastics.

Practical Arts

Practical Arts has a wide coverage: drafting, agriculture, drivers' training, auto mechanics, machine shop, mechanical drawing, welding, electricity, wood work, and distributive education. This is the department which puts the fellows directly into jobs, or send them on to more education with an excellent background. With Wyoming shooting to an all-time record in highway accidents, the work of Mr. Tobin and Mr. Estes cannot be overemphasized.

Into every girl's hope chest should go notes about many ways to make a home run smoothly, for the way to a man's heart is beauty and devotion. The method to keep him that way is to remain beautiful and to feed him deliciously. If a girl pays attention and makes jottings in her mind or in her recipe box, she gains much from classes in family living, home management, foods, clothing, and home nursing. Perhaps the girl who led the way to happy home making in 1964 was Kay Williams, the winner of the Betty Crocker contest.

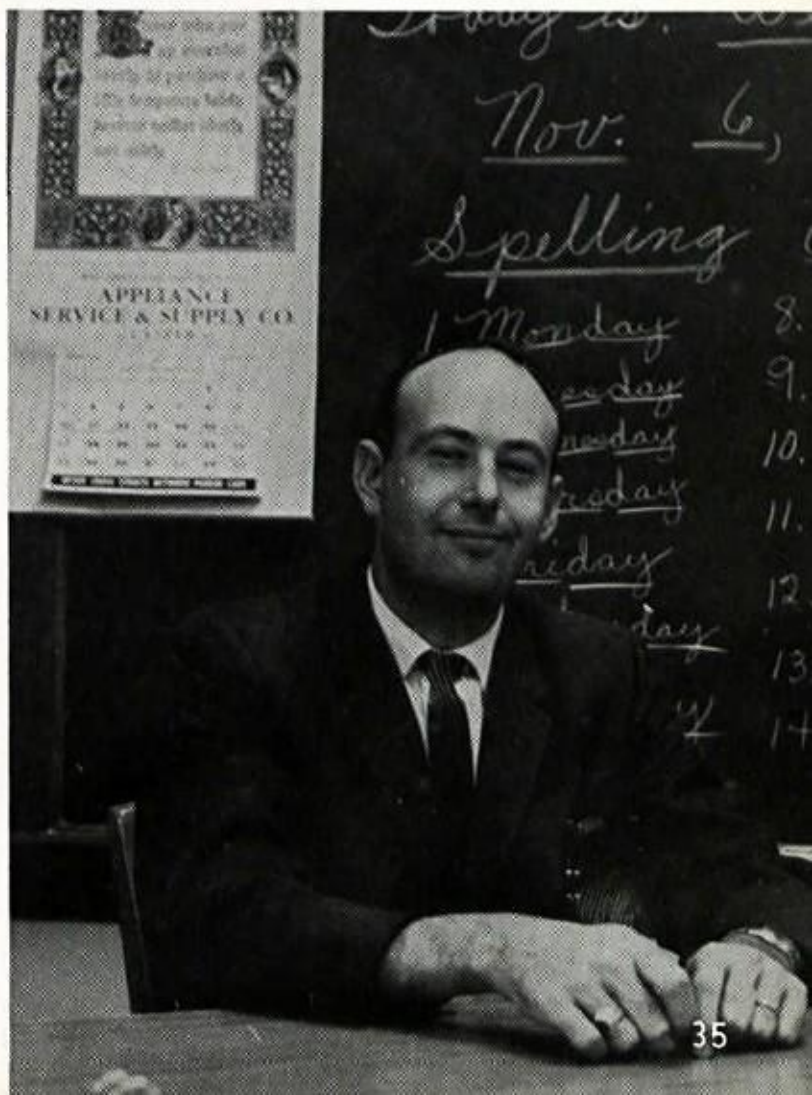
Special Education

There were many happier people around Natrona County High School in 1963-64 because a class in how to do practical jobs was added to the curriculum. The class was Special Education, and the man who made kids happy was Arnold Schieferstein.

Arnold Schieferstein



Guidance

Guidance office provides a number of services for the students of the school. The first is educational placement. A counselor works with each student to help him find courses that will best prepare him for college or for a vocation. Information to meet vocational, educational, and social needs is available. Of particular importance is the time spent in providing assistance in the choice of colleges and other schools, as well as help with entrance examinations, scholarships, and all problems of further education. Vocational information is available for all students.

Counselors have charge of the testing program. This service includes national testing programs as well as those administered to students in certain grades. Special tests are given to individuals as the need arises. Personal counseling with individual students and group guidance for small groups provide special help where it is needed. The function of guidance is to assist a student in every possible way for his high school and future life.

New shelves for the encyclopedias and modern shelf supports for the ones that had held thousands of books for the past thirty-eight years brought the library equipment up-to-date this year. Gradually the collection is building to 13,000 volumes. Research students made much use of the magazine holdings of 130 titles. In a year's time about 69,000 people use the library—some for information, some for browsing or leisure reading. This past year time open was extended to nine hours a day to allow all students and faculty to enjoy use of the library.

An average of one hundred and fifteen students visited the nurse's office daily. Some were given care and sent back to class while others were sent home.

A junior or senior girl worked in the office every period of the day. Health appraisals were done on all juniors and new students. Hearing tests were given to any student about whom there was concern.

Judges of Student Court Handed Out Dangerous Demerits, Forewarning Foreclosurers, and Wishful Warnings

Student court tried hard to make a go of discipline through student action. The old saw, however, held true that a governing body must have the people behind it, if it is to succeed.

Judges during the year learned to go slow on major offences to gain the confidence of the student body. The court finally proved a training ground for the good will of the faculty and of the law abiding civilians of the school.

Girls League

Girls League, as always, was one of the most helpful groups in the school. Fall pointed up a busy season: "Ask Me" girls aided the Sophs; a float took its place in the Homecoming parade; a ball honored the football team; cider and doughnuts warmed the faculty at Hallowe'en; cake and coffee awaited the teachers at their monthly meetings; girl guides ushered for the Governor's Educational Convention.

Further service included a Christmas basket for a needy family; housing furnished for delegates to the Student Council Convention; Mother-daughter tea in October; tea for former members at Christmas time; a pizza party; and a farewell spring picnic on Casper Mountain.

. . . Look Back on a Wonderful Year.

The GUSHER

The GUSHER was published eight times this year and had two distinctive changes over last year. The "face" was changed and a mimeographed insert entitled the DERRICK was added.

Members of the journalism class attended Journalism Weekend in Laramie, where they learned the latest techniques for preparing a high school newspaper. Chuck Hamilton won second place in the annual news writing contest.

The journalism class, now a two semester course, wrote "Mustang Round up," which appeared every Saturday in the CASPER MORNING STAR. For the past five years this column has been judged best in its class by the Wyoming Press Association.

Scratch or Handicap?

All work and no play make faculty members dull folks, so they go in for tournaments in a big way. The Faculty Lounge is well decorated with cups, especially those for golfing and bowling. These scenes from the bowling meet demonstrate the intensity with which these hard working oldsters go in for the sport. One can tell that this particular ball, for instance, was a little high and that the bowler's partner is perturbed. Despite the handicaps of the players the meet was a bang-up success.

From Notetaking

English Club Discussed Fiction — Copious Notes Always Led to Constructive Analyses

The long, weighty novel on economic philosophy, Atlas Shrugged, and the compact picture of the individual's personal struggle for survival, Pincher Martin, are representative of the wide scope of the program material of the English Club for 1963-64. Senior members in one another's homes during the summer to continue their discussions of contemporary fiction. When school opened in the fall, the number of members grew explosively as juniors and sophomores began to attend monthly meetings open to anyone interested in this free literary discussion.

"Studio 51"

Art Club, "Studio 51," met twice a month on Wednesday afternoons. The members were entertained once a month by a guest speaker. The in-between meetings concerned themselves with projects and business.

The club members created posters and signs for various groups. There were approximately eighteen enthusiastic members who painted and sketched. In the spring these artists went on a field trip.

These fellows and gals could gaze with pride on beautiful results of their work.

Members of the NCHS Future Nurses club met early in the year to plan their activities. At the November 20 meeting nurses from the Air Force, Army, and Navy spoke to the group and illustrated their talks with films on the nursing profession. Christmas baskets were delivered to needy families during the holiday season. The annual Christmas party was held on December 9. A field trip was planned for late in the spring.

International Relations Club

International Relations Club makes a mighty effort to understand the people of other countries. During the fall quarter thirteen members went to Golden, Colo., to take part in International Day. Foreign flavor marked the sessions: speaker, a consul from Pakistan, and Japanese, Swedish, and Arabian dancers. Especially interesting was a sword dance from Saudi Arabia. For several days fifteen military boys from foreign countries lived in the homes of club members. Through jam sessions these fellows gave much enlightenment about their home borders.

In the spring about ten members went to Greeley to take part in the sessions of the model United Nations. Jim Duncan, a former student, came before the group to tell of his work in Peru.

Latin Club

With roast pig and all the traditional Roman trimmings the Latin Club members held their annual banquet in the spring. First year slaves provided Latin style entertainment. At Christmas time carolers sang in Latin for the guests at Natrona Lodge, at the Children's Home, and at Natrona County Memorial Hospital. On St. Valentine's Day and at Christmas cards and baskets of goodies were sent to the hospital.

Homecoming float—Rubber tires and manpower had it all over Ben Hur.

Mustangs conquered and there certainly was no woe.

"Orange and black! Fight! Fight!"

Notetaking, memorization, and study of former questions occupied the minds of many girls during the early fall—they were studying for the Pep Club test. Surviving were thirty-nine sophomores who had a grade of 85 or better on the exam. During the fall and winter months the girls were especially active: attending the Cheyenne game by way of the train were three-fourths of the members; buying new white sweaters for cheerleaders; attending all football and basketball games; and giving a spaghetti Christmas party with forty-five members of the Riverton Pep Club as guests.

Sam, a new mascot, appears on the field, led by his trainers—June Mosteller, Sharon Lockwood (owner), and Janice Kimble.

On Game Days Pep Club Sweater Wearers Add Color to the Halls and Encouragement to the Teams.

Science-Math

OFFICERS: president, Lynn Freeman; vice-president, Danny Rich; treasurer, Harvey Ridgeway; secretary, Gary Priess; sponsor, Mr. Livingston.

Science and Math Club swung into action in 1963 with its many field trips. The group visited the hospital to note the radiation equipment; they visited the Pan-American Oil Company to take notice of the computers; they studied the telephone office and the Texas refinery. In the spring of 1964 the organization (mostly boys) made extensive use of the physics lab for science experiments.

Future Teachers learned teaching techniques from practical experience. These pedagogues visited the rural schools of the county, the deaf school, and the school for the mentally retarded. Members gained valuable experience also in their project to earn money by checking objective tests—the Red Pencil Brigade.

Future Teachers

Any member of the Jayceettes is a proud girl. The club was established in 1963 as a service group sponsored by the J.C.'s of Casper. It had a great deal of success in its one year of existence. Among its service activities were the talent shows for the folks at Valley Manor and a special service for the Welfare organization, in which the girls delivered commodities to the elderly people of Casper. The work was sometimes hard, but it was always fun.

The future secretaries took notes for the future during this year's activities. With their knowledge of shorthand and typing they will be seeking a career in some phase of business such as clerks, stenographers, and receptionists. During the busy schedule of the year, there were many events such as the Homecoming float, the Christmas caroling party, the "Pinning on" ceremony, the initiation tea, and the mothers' tea.

Future Farmers

of America

FFA was established to promote leadership, cooperation, and to further agricultural education through contests, fairs, and leadership conferences.

Many activities of the year included the shop party during national FFA Week in February, a public speaking contest, and a Parent-Son Banquet. In April the group went to the State FFA Leadership Conference in Cody. Plans for the group are to continue promoting Agricultural Industry in our community.

If you wish to be healthy, just ask any NGAA member how to do it. She will invariably answer, "Just keep active." NGAA girls were busy this past year in many fields of athletics: volleyball, basketball, table tennis, ping-pong. They added a new activity—swimming on Fridays.

Tina Summerford and Thelma Morgan keep their eyes on the little white ball.

In response to an invitation by the International Relations, Lowry Air Force Base sent to Casper a group of foreign flyers to talk to the club. Presented here is the pictured pleasure of the two groups—Casper students and South American cadets.

French Club

Today everyone is going to France. Our people are getting ready to break the language barrier.

Did you ever want to visit Old Mexico? To several members of the Spanish Club the dream came true in 1964 when the troup went to Old Mexico during the Christmas holidays. The project is to become an annual educational project. Pan American Day was held in the spring.

Good for a thousand sniffs.

Key Clubbers tell you that theirs is the hardest working group in school; their agenda—Kleenex Sale, sponsorship of swimming for the Children's Home; supplies for Mentally Retarded children at Wilson School. The last service brought the Casper club recognition in the Rocky Mountain District.

Membership is not all work, however; for the boys will tell you of the fun they have at their social activities. Among the fun times are the joint meeting of the Key and Kiwanis Clubs and the Installation Banquet and Dance.

For most of us in Natrona County High School, Christmas comes with a spiritual flood of gladness and thanksgiving. Madrigal, with its boys and girls who sing for pure pleasure, adds to our joy. We know the old, old story, but Madrigal enhances it for us. During the weeks before the Pageant, the top of the world in the high school—room 300—pours forth all our old favorites, such as "Silent Night," "God Rest Ye, Merry Gentlemen," "O Come, All Ye Faithful," and countless others underscoring the holiness of the season.

In the spring of 1964, the orchestra in its annual concert, featured a song by the Madrigal.

The NCHS orchestra, under the direction of Rex Eggleston, had a more active year during 1963-'64 than ever before. The orchestra had many opportunities to display its capabilities. The first concert was held in the NCHS auditorium Nov. 20th. During March, the orchestra and the madrigal choir combined to present a concert, the highlight being the combined performance of "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God." Later in the year, the orchestra served as the pit orchestra for the production of Brigadoon. The final concert was held in May. During the last weekend in April, the orchestra traveled to Buffalo to participate in the District Music Festival. The following week, Casper hosted State Music Festival. Many of the orchestra members competed as soloists and participants in ensembles in both the District and State Festivals. Several NCHS musicians were selected to participate in the All-State Orchestra and Band.

NCHS Band

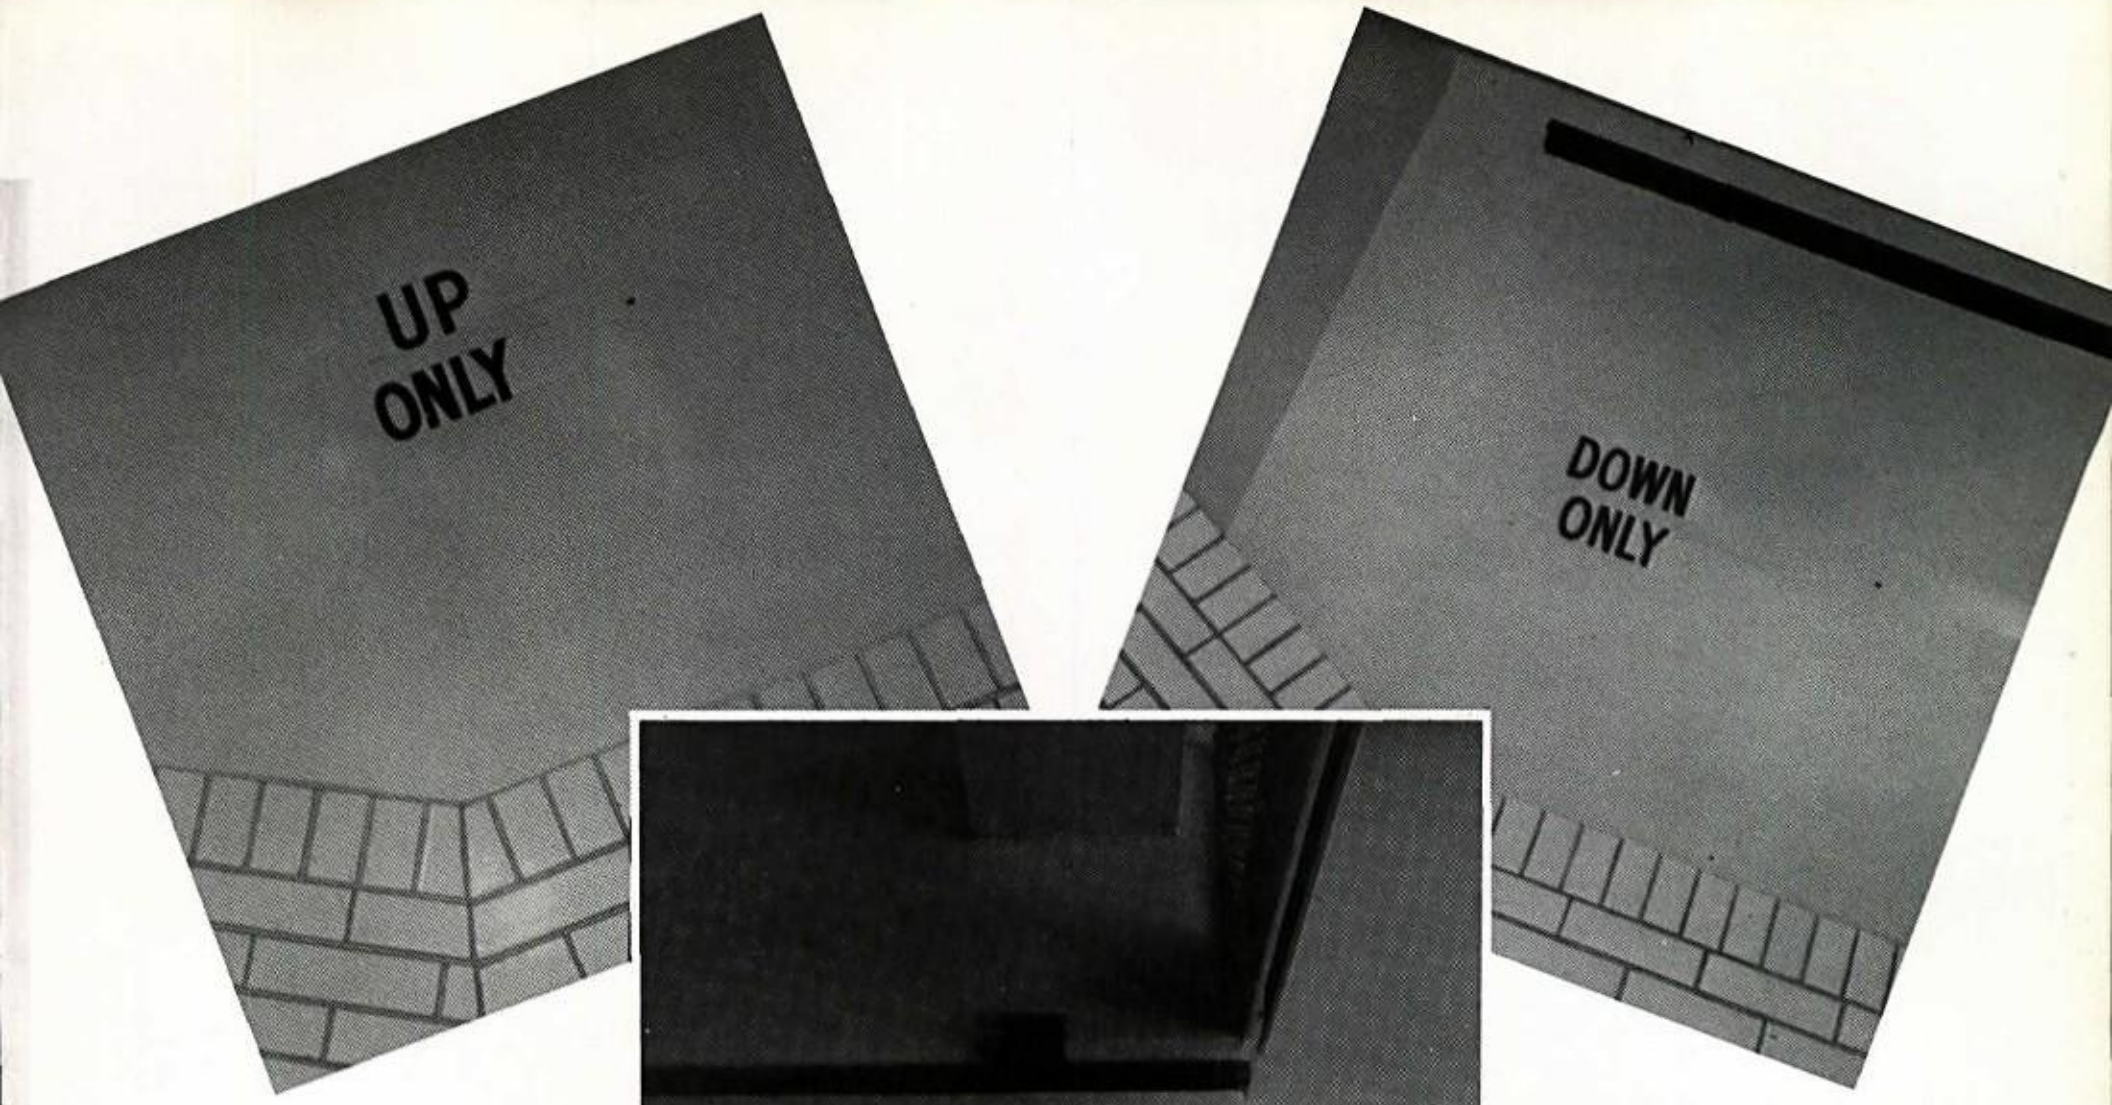
NCHS band, under the direction of Blaine Coolbaugh, assisted by Carl Alexander, stood out as one of the finest.

Pep assemblies owed the band a debt of gratitude for creating enthusiasm with the brassy blares and deep bases of our school song. When the band poured out upon the sod during the halves of the football games, the field became a riot of color and a plan of intricate designs.

Versatility of the various divisions can be heard at pep and "C" pin assemblies, mixers, and concerts.

The band has established an outstanding reputation as it developed the characteristics of a truly fine musical body.

With the death of our President, the band struck notes of sympathy.



Due to the crowded conditions in the high school this year, the hallways are lined with directions so that no one will be lost.

Traffic through the halls is directed by up and down stairways. The system worked well after the students adjusted.

Casper's Mustang footballers finished their first undefeated season since 1930 and their first unshared and uncontested state championship since 1947. As a welcome surprise for the coaches Casper finally walloped the Sheridan Broncs in the final game of the season. Early in the fall one sports writer headlined, "Defense Key to NCHS Success." As the season moved along it became more evident that defense was winning. The "fearsome fivesome" —Les Peak, Dave Shilling, Ron Adams, Dave Scriven, and Don Wilcox, led the charge when the offense needed help. Line backers Dick Trupp, Vern Cherett, Bob Minick, and the deep men, W. C. Mapp, Gary Olson, and Dave Reese provided the backing needed to make the defense tough.

A heady quarterback was Dick Phillips. Herbie Mapp led in touchdowns with Greg Lamont a close second. Ron Benson generally lifted that ball over the uprights for the extra points after touchdowns and Dave Reese led in pass interceptions.

For eighteen seniors the season was a triumphant climax for years of tough fun.

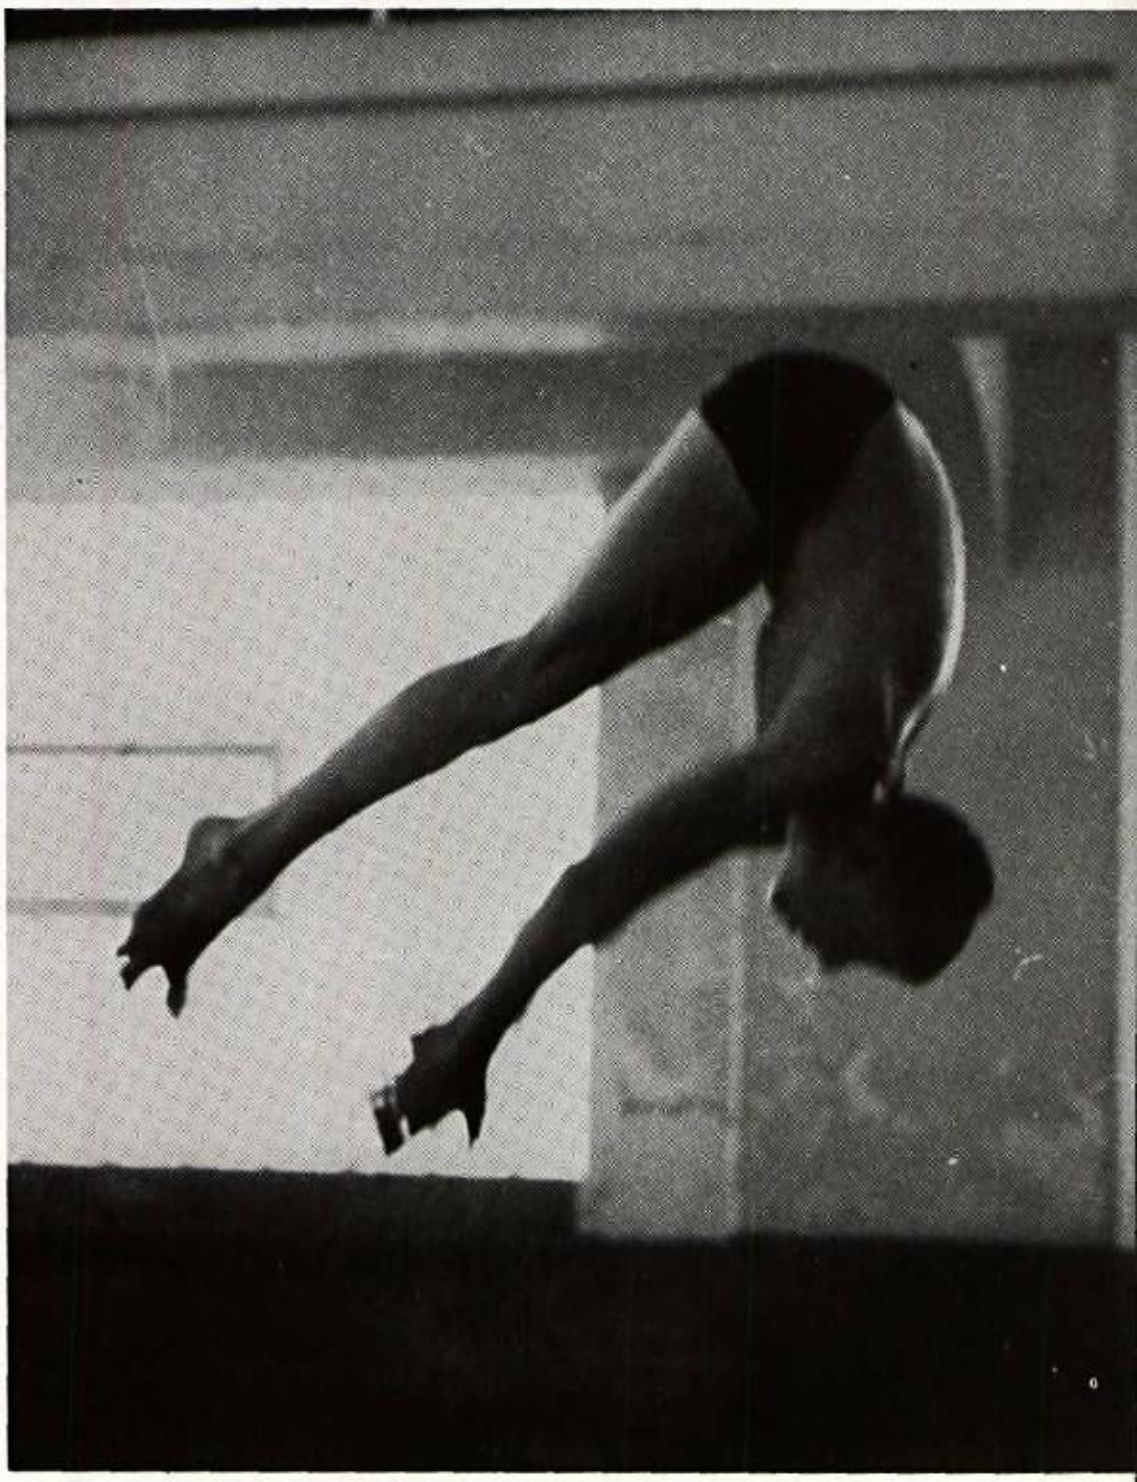
Look Out! The Water's Wet

Under the direction of Earl (Shadow) Ray and the sophomore coach Bernard Conolly, the 1963-64 swimming season was extremely fruitful and offered no end to the promises for next year.

With only two dual-meet losses this year coming at the hands of last year's state champion Powell and the powerful Cheyenne Central Indians, the Mustangs proved to the remaining teams throughout the state that Casper had a swimming team, and a good one at that.

The ability of such seniors as Jim Allen, Vernon Cherrett, Pete Heppe, Richard Jackson, Rick Riebesell, and Terry Whitaker will be missed in the years to come.

But with the help of the returning juniors Jim Coltrane, Don Teesdale, Mike Curry, Jim Hill, Jim Young, and an excellent group of sophomores, Coach Ray will have a fine squad with which to improve the accomplishments of this year.



Junior diver and two year letterman Don Teesdale shows form and ability in one of the year's few home meets.

One hundred twenty started wrestling in 1963. Of this number some eighty finished the season. All of the latter competed against another team. Pictured are the up's and down's of wrestlers getting their muscles, breath, and determination all ready for an important meet. Coaches for the season were Jerry Quinlan, De. Barber, and Ron Estes.

Basketball

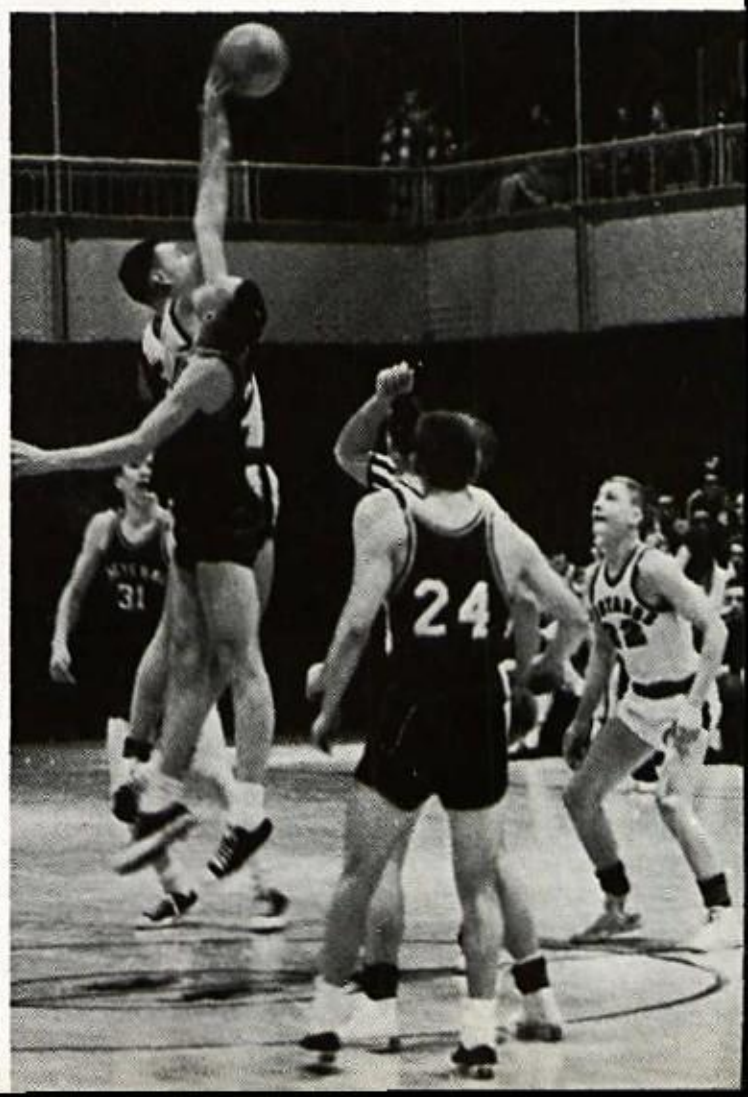
Ball goes through the Central basket.



Mustang roundballers started their 1963-64 campaign in early November. Coaches George Collins and Jim Valencia put all their potential through rigorous drills in preparation for the opener on December 6 against Thermopolis. Trying to fill the gaps left by last year's All-District Jim Owens and Tom Garner and All-State Claude Callison and Tim Lijewski—players who guided the Mustangs to a third place finish in the '63 State tourney, were the seven returning lettermen Dave Reese, Bill Potts, Del Geherett, Dick Phillips, Bob Phillips, Mike Dill, and Greg Lamont. Also bolstering the squad was transfer Ron Benson, who was a two-year class A All-State selection from Newcastle.

Many of the team members were fresh from the Mustang State Champion football, cross-country, and golf squads. With the taste of victory still lingering, the fellows had hopes of continuing Casper's sweeping willing efforts. As the season started, the Mustangs showed at times all the form of a top team, but still losing some heartbreakers to the state's leading teams, such as, Cheyenne Central, Riverton, and Laramie. Dave Reese and Del Geherett showed themselves to be the ball handlers and playmakers, while Dick Phillips, Bill Potts, Ron Benson, and Mike Dill proved to be excellent rebounders and scorers. W. C. Mapp and Dave Scriven of the Junior varsity with hustle and desire took varsity spots when the chance arose.

NCHS is one of two schools in the state where skiing is recognized; the other luckily located group is in Jackson. Other high schools have skiers, but no organized team. The sport is not recognized by the Wyo. Activities Assn.; and the only supervision comes from the U. S. Skiing Assn., which sanctions races and officians and classifies junior races.

Ken Barnes, geologist for the Humble Oil Company, donated his coaching time and Anker Larson was the faculty coach. The activity at NCHS in 1963-64 was in its fourth year, with a squad made up of 22 members. Greer Markle, Jim Landers, Terry Barnes, and Jon Sims were carry-overs from the squad of 1962-63, but many juniors and sophomores scattered the snow on the slopes of Cody, Red Lodge, Lander, and Jackson. Casper meet was held on Feb. 8.

Team members put in about 14 hours of practice each week—time divided among physical conditioning, free skiing, downhill, and slalom on Casper Mountain. Although the team won no events, individual members placed high at every meet.

CROSS COUNTRY—Coach Collins's Mustang harriers used a 1-2-4-5-6 finish to take top honors at the first annual Wyo. state cross country meet. State competition was held in conjunction with the 17th annual University of Wyoming Harrier meet. Bob Reese won individual honors, touring the two mile course in the time of 11:24; Dave Hall was second; Larry Kimball, fourth; Ernie Trujillo, fifth; and Harry Brubaker, sixth.

GOLF—Members of the Mustang Golf team won the state championship for a second year in succession. Mitch Currah, state medalist, led the field with a 73; and the Mustangs as a group were the "most" with a team score of 318. Depth was the key to the victory for Coach Don Weishaar's Mustangs.

Casper in recent years, a strong contender for Class —AA first place colors, qualified for final events twelve men in eight categories. At the Northern Regional track meet the Mustangs won first places in the mile run and in the 800 yard relay. Savala repeated easily in the state mile with a time of 4:39.2. This time, however, did not break the state record. Savala was Casper's only first place winner at the state meet. Casper's remaining points were won by 2nd, 3rd, and 4th places. Riverton finished first with 47 points; Cheyenne East was second with 42½; and Casper finished third with 29½.

Notes on the season of 1963-64: 1962-63 trophies went to the following people: Blower cup for interp—Debbe Davis; Deffeyes cup for most points in NFL—Gary Romberg; McCann cup for greatest improvement—Frank Allen.

Meets started off with a Discussion Festival at Cheyenne Central where Alan Hobbs rated superior. Annual Casper meet came on December 9 with 21 Wyoming schools in attendance. Dr. Patrick Marsh of the University conducted a workshop for teachers and students in debate, oratory, and extemp.

Meets in Sheridan at the College, Rapid City, Spearfish, Sundance, Buffalo, Denver University, and Cheyenne brought in trophies in B Debate, A Debate, and Original Oratory plus yards of ribbons for superiors and excellences. During the last of February the Northeast District Speech meet was held in Casper with nine schools in attendance. Casper qualified in the following events for the State Tourney: six debating teams, three dramatic interpreters, three humorous readers, two discussers, one poetry interpreter, and two extempors.

Judges came from Eastern Montana College and from Black Hills Teachers College.

As the MUSTANG went to press hopes were high for winners at the State and at the NFL. District, plus a faint hope for an entrant or two in the Nationals in Akron, Ohio, in June—entrants to bring back to Casper the Tau Kappa Alpha trophy for most rounds in National meets.

1963 Sweepstakes, BHTC; second in A debate, Denver Uni.; B Debate, Rapid City; first in oratory (Alan Hobbs), Spearfish; A debate, Spearfish.

National Thespians

National Thespian Society is an educational honor and service organization of teachers and students, established for the advancement of dramatic arts. During 1964 the group presented two plays—"Importance of Being Earnest" and "Brigadoon." Thespians also held their annual Spotlight Dinner where acting awards were presented and new officers were introduced. On February 10, 11, and 12 birthday songs and birthday cakes marked the 35th birthday of National Troupe I, NCHS.

Norleen Wingerter presented to Al Estes (Bottom) in "Midsummer Night's Dream," the Oscar for best actor of 1962-63.

Gary,
You are a real nice bird, except when you're drunk.

Ed Day

Gary,
I've enjoyed your class
year, especially your jokes.
Love Ya
Jeanine

Gary,
Sir really had alot of fun with you this year. thanks for all the gum and paper you've given me. your a real good guy. Stay that way. Love ya.
